

Lumiel Astor, Child of Stars

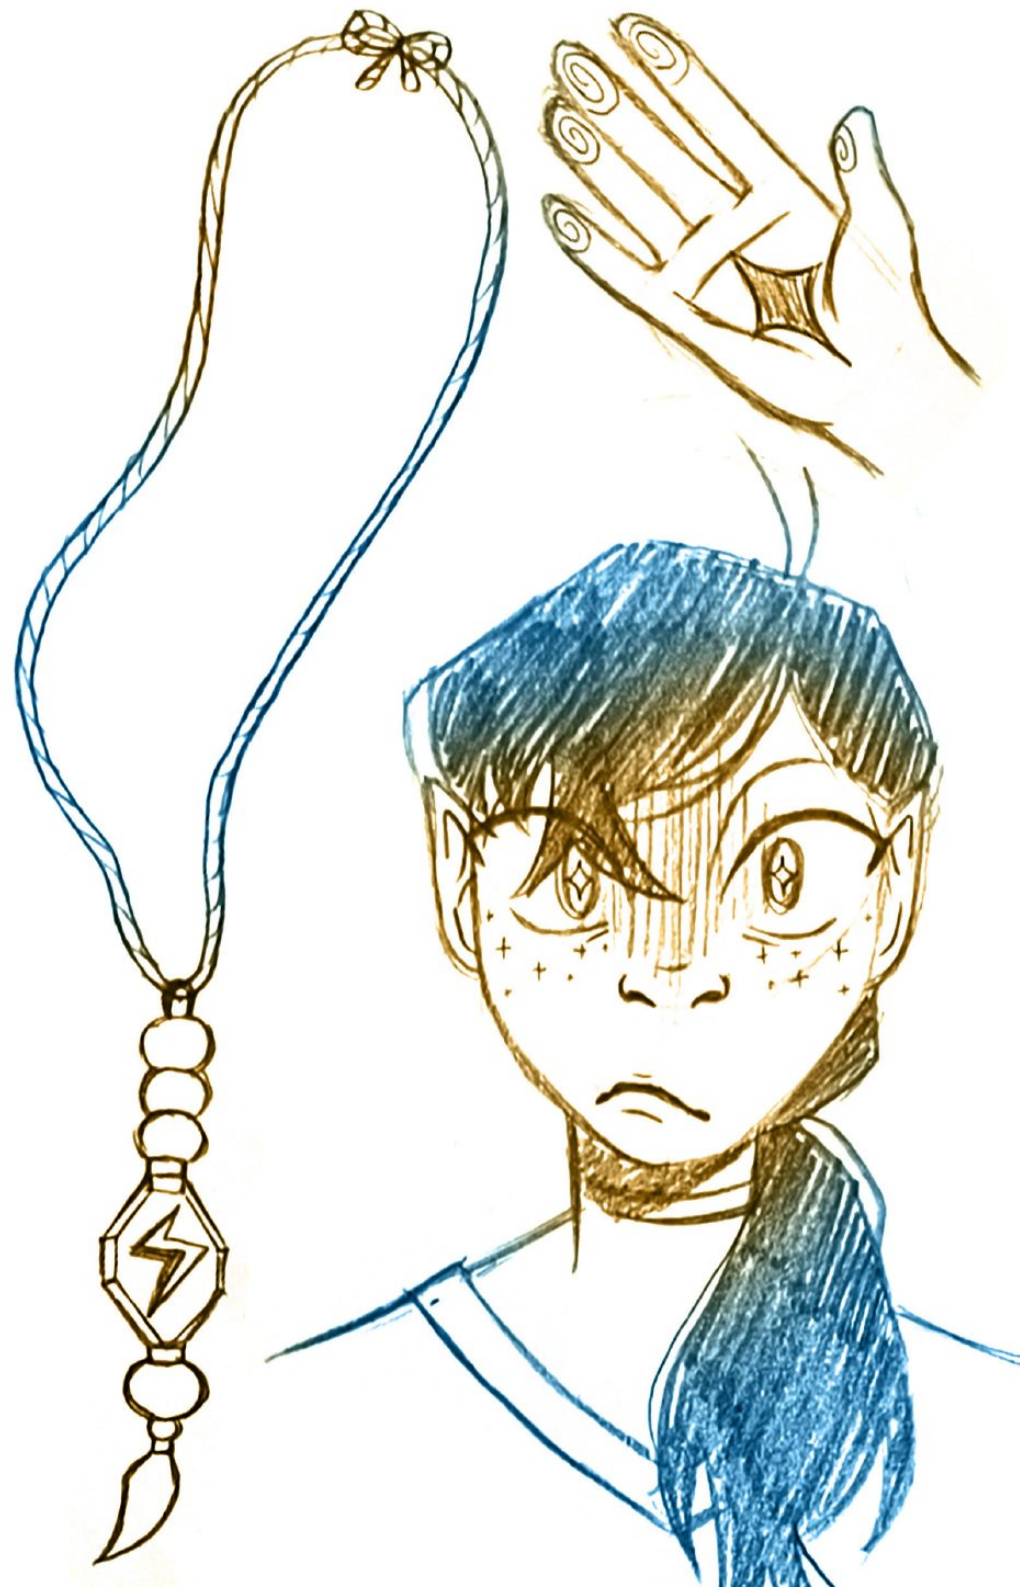

Markings can be either a golden yellow or red in color, and can come in a limited variety of shapes.

Lumiël is considered an odd individual. He speaks with a monotone, and struggled with being social as a child.

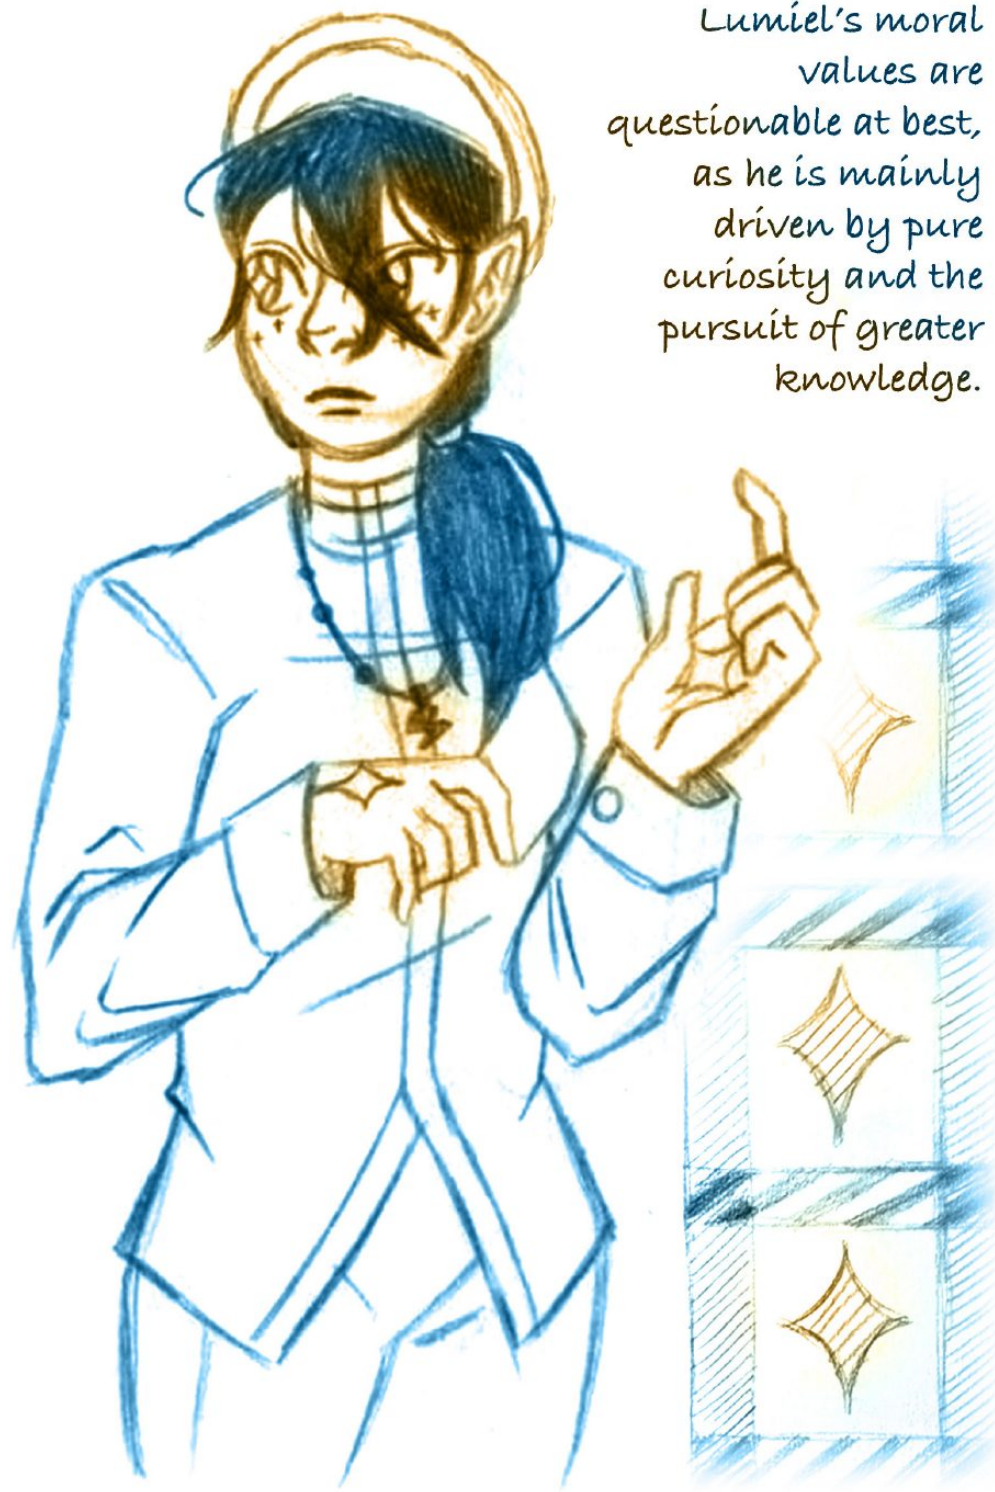

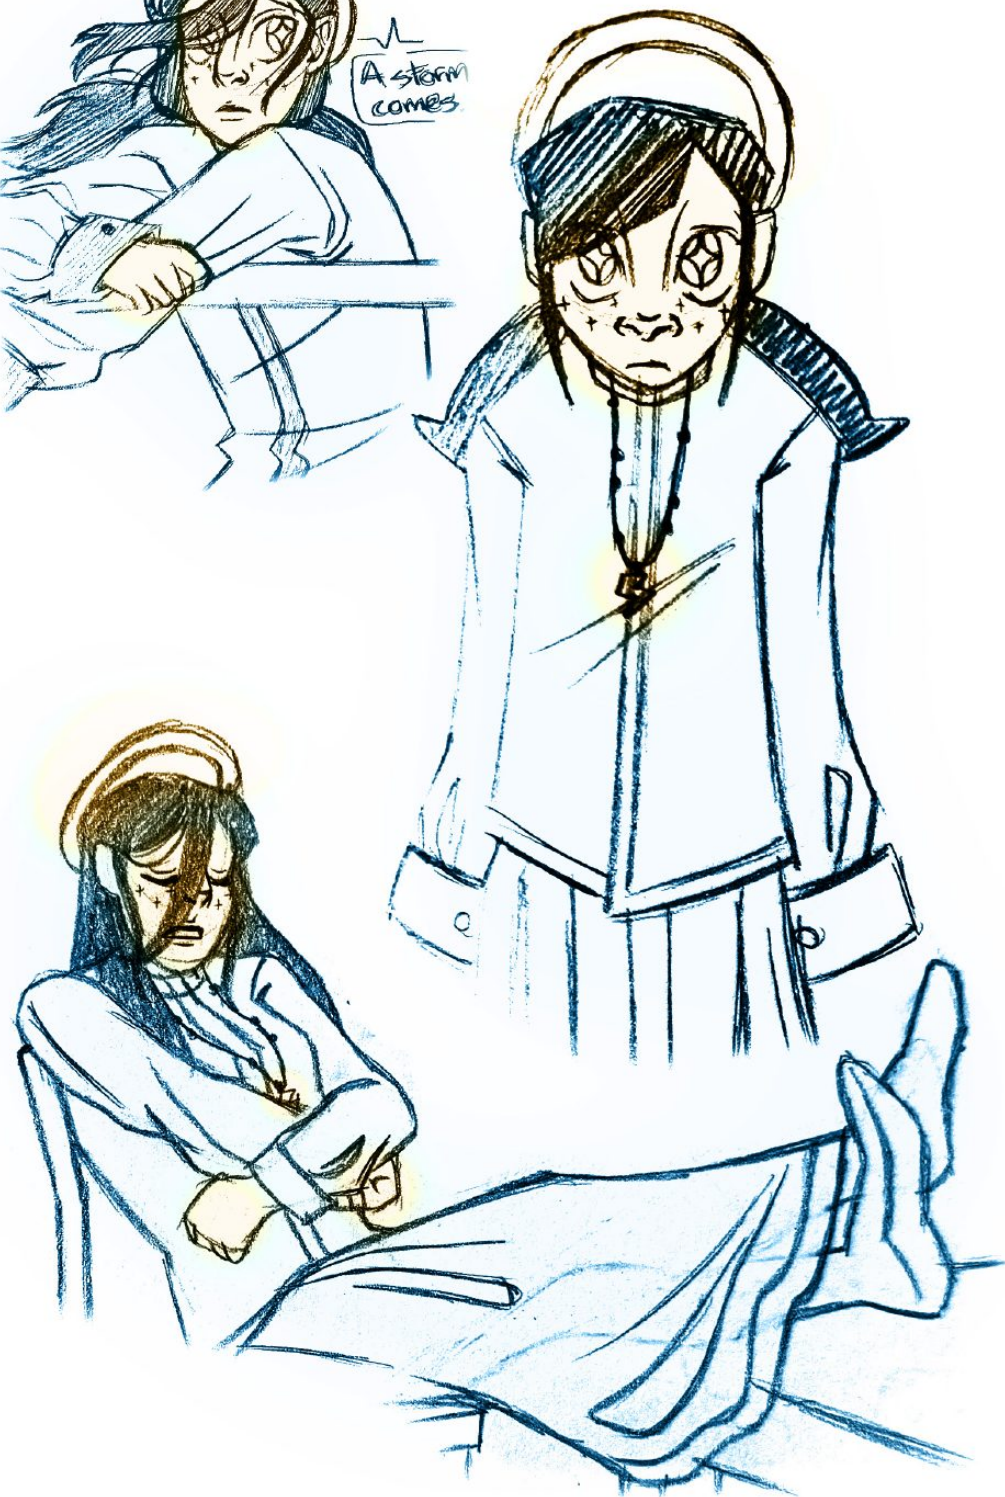

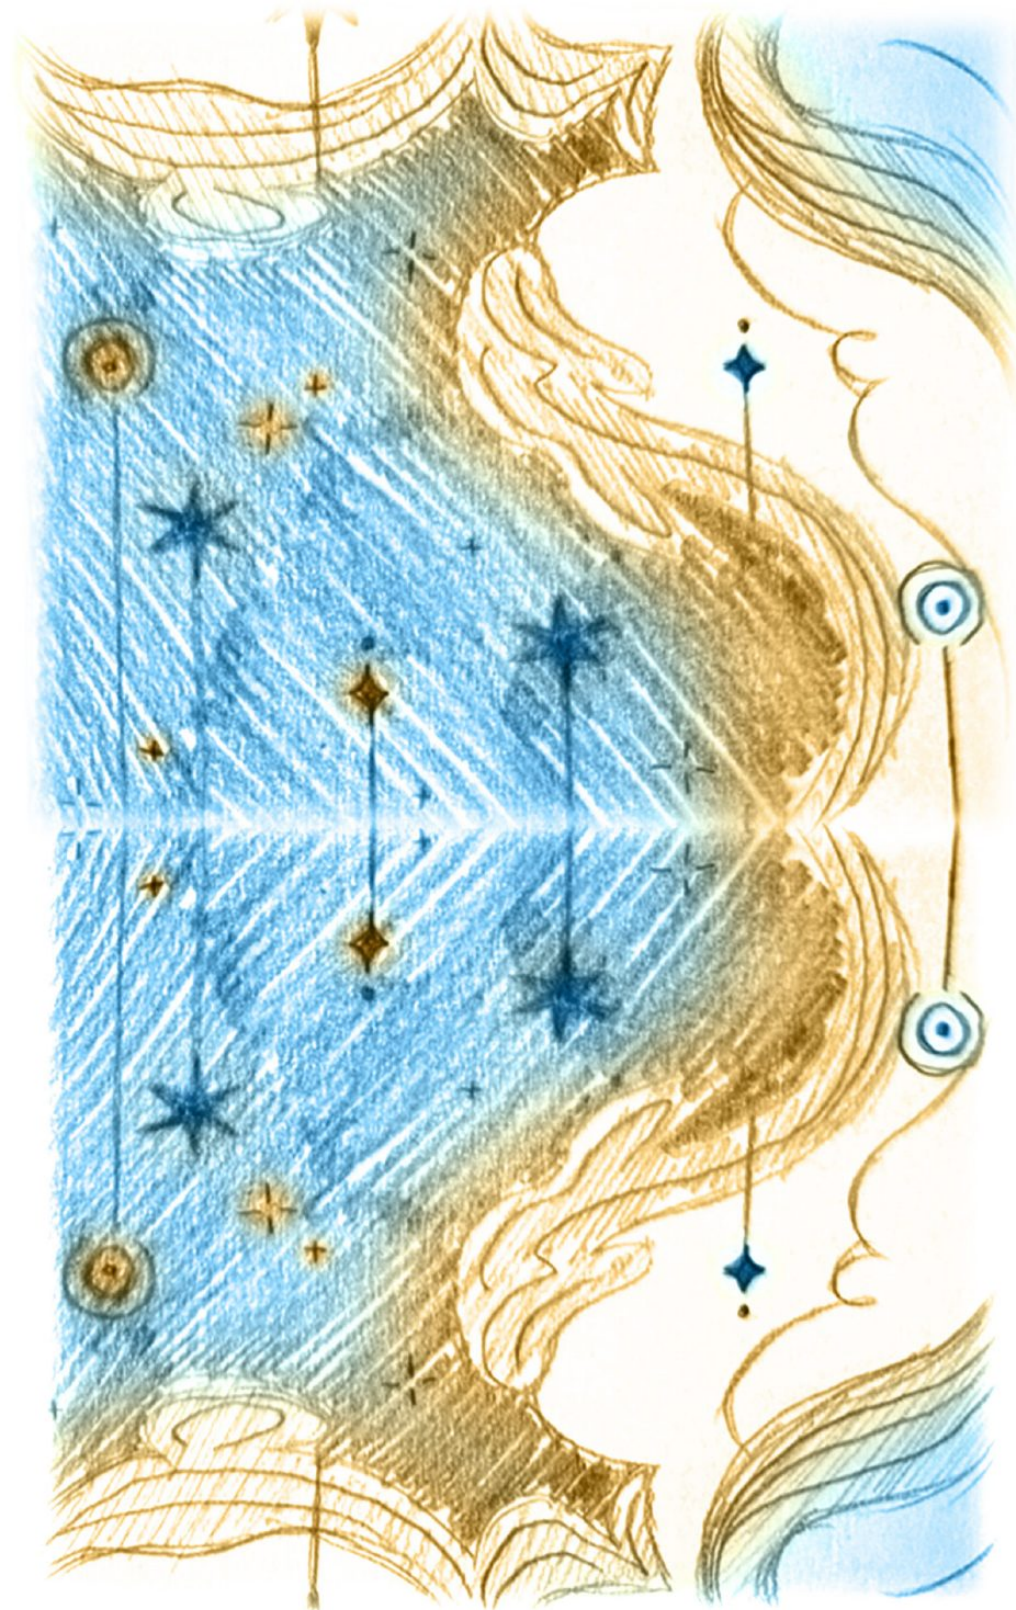

IS THIS HOW
YOU SAY HI?
SHOULD I
SAY ANYTHING?
THIS IS SO CONFUSING.

Lumiel's moral values are questionable at best, as he is mainly driven by pure curiosity and the pursuit of greater knowledge.

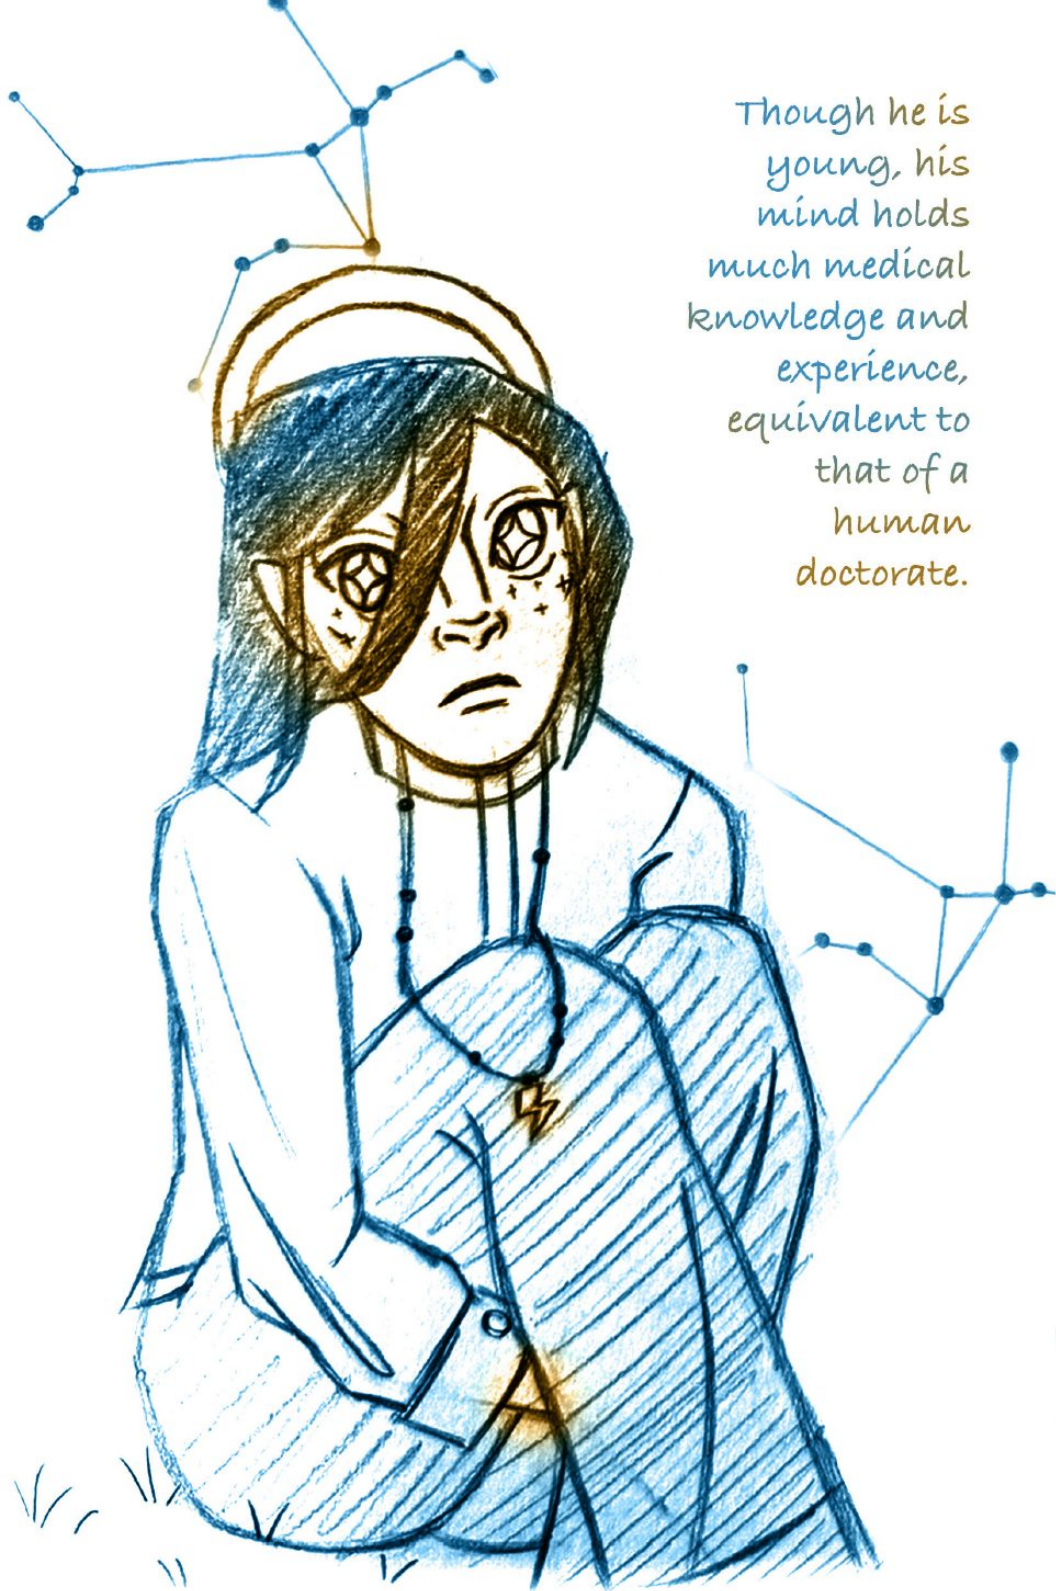

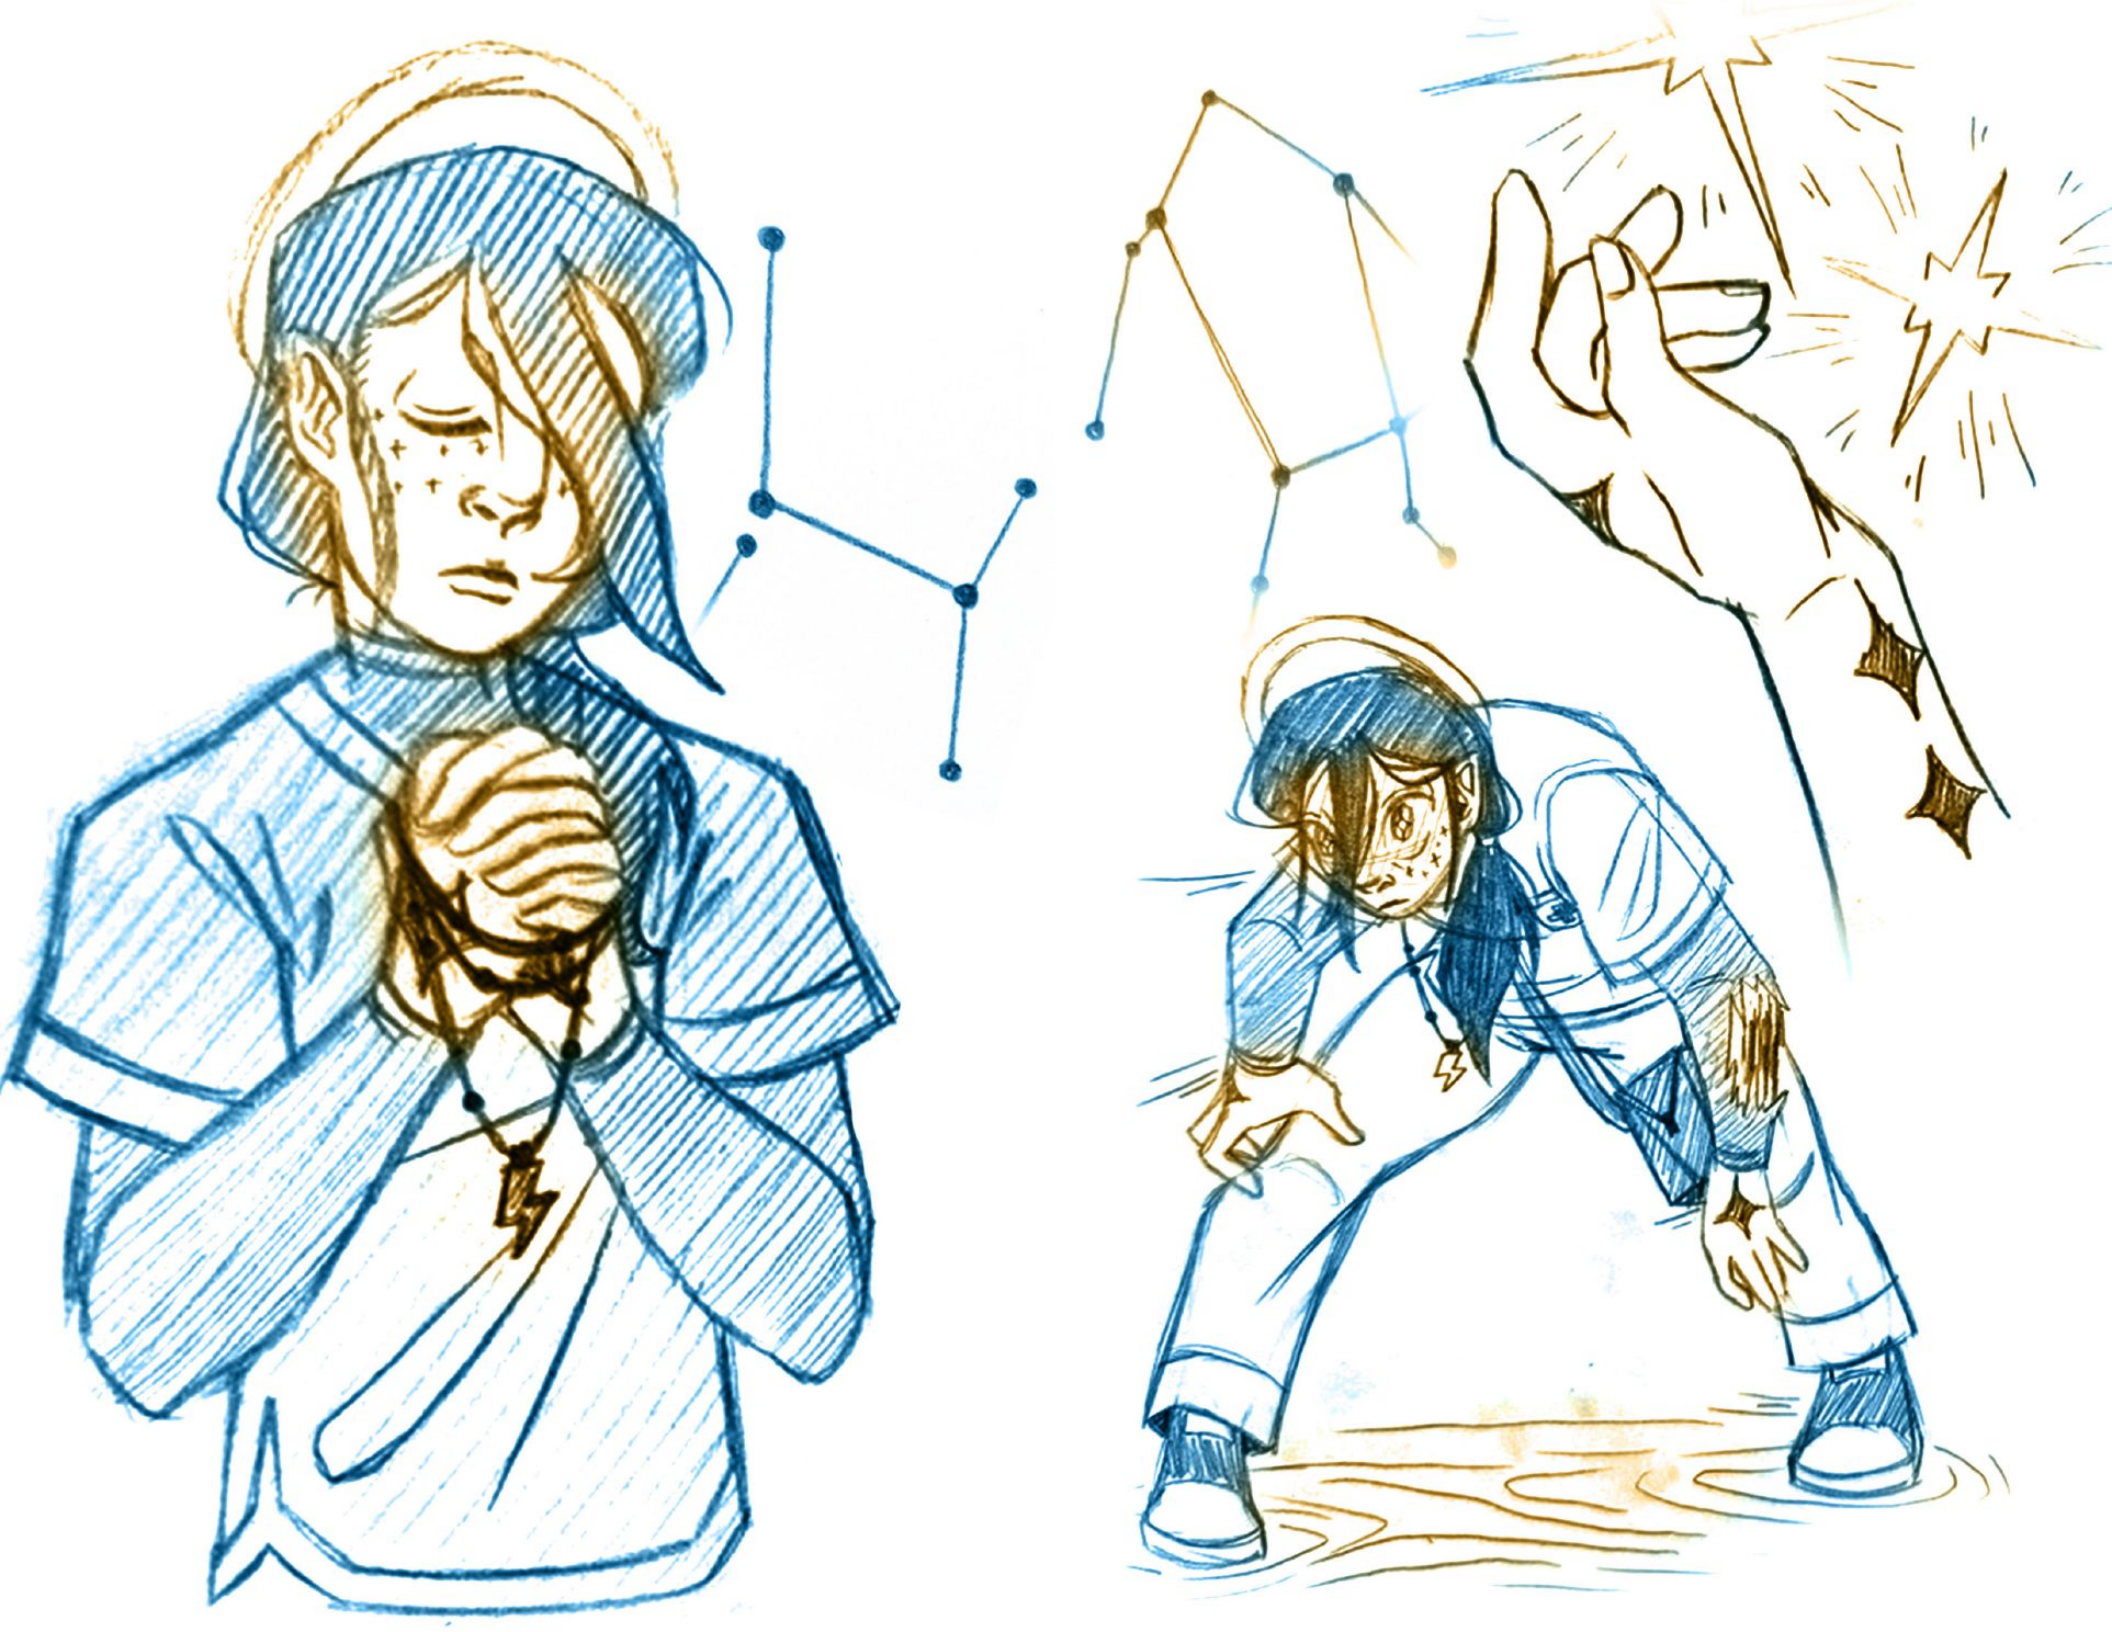

Though he is young, his mind holds much medical knowledge and experience, equivalent to that of a human doctorate.

Lumiël has been taught that he is special compared to others, as he is more attuned spiritually and connected to the astral plane more closely.

Such fools..

Be nice.

Alongside medical prowess, Lumiel is capable of conducting powerful strikes of lightning.

The wrath of the storm running through his veins allows for deadly control.

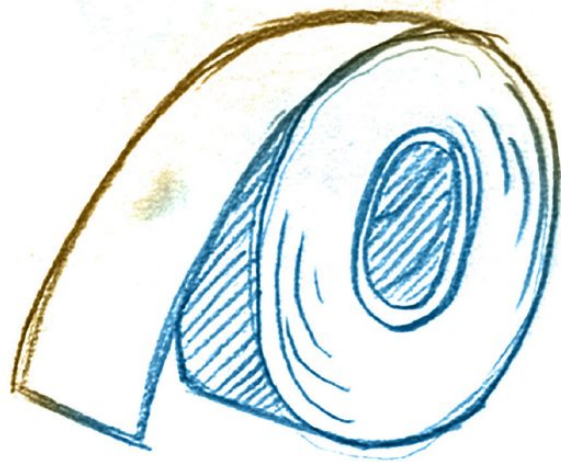

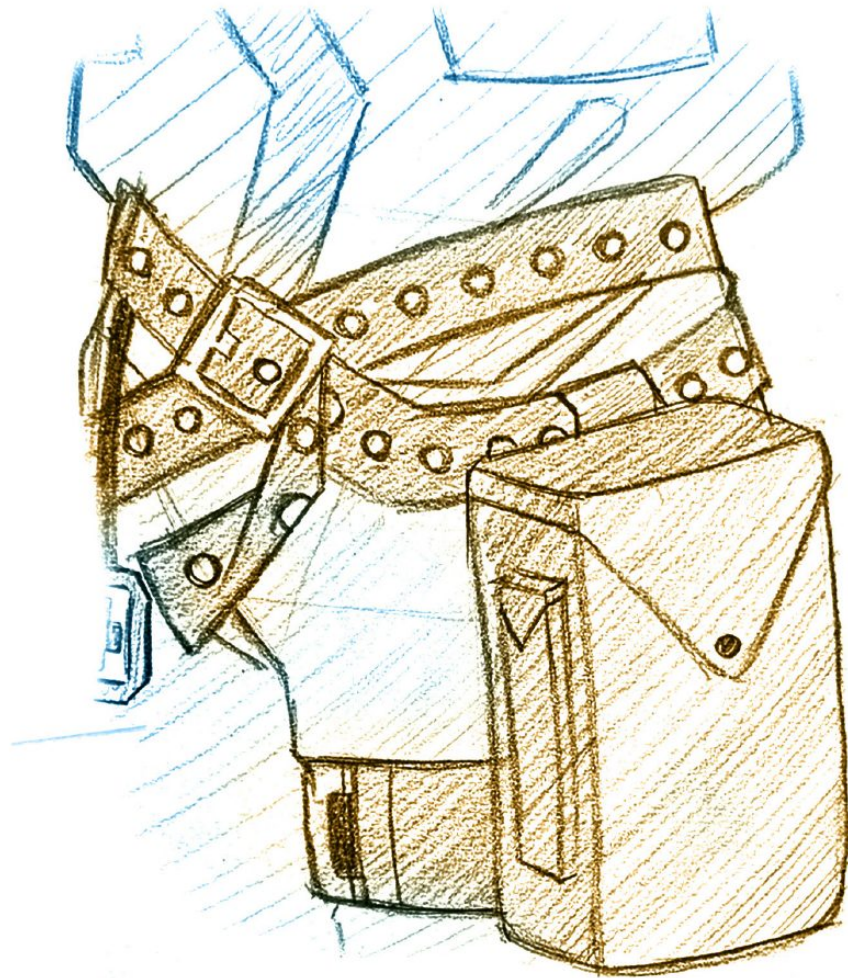

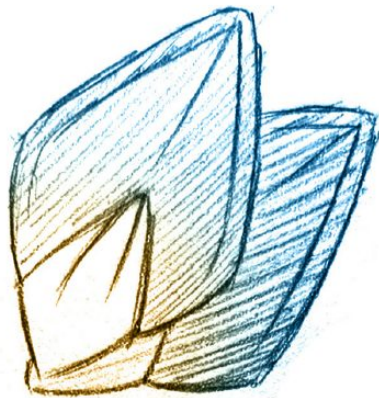

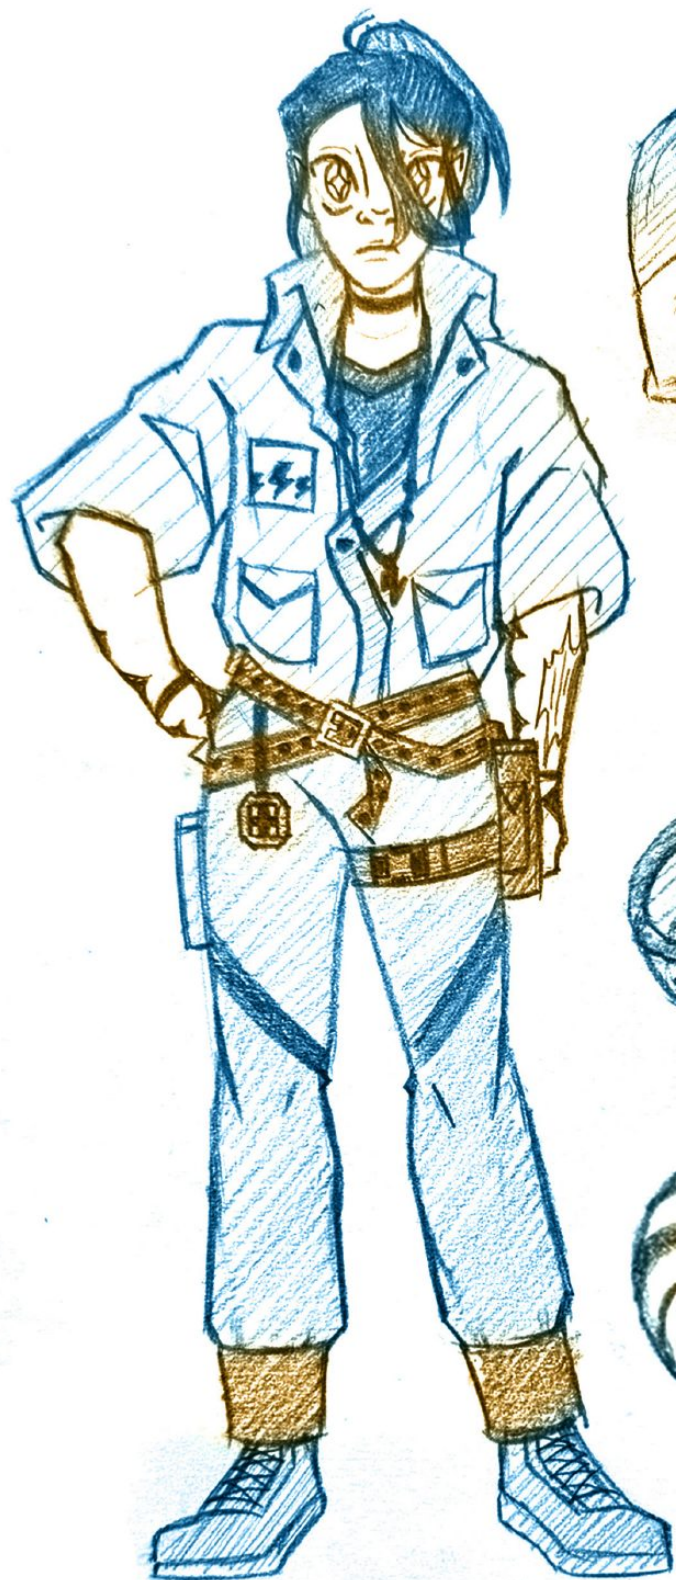

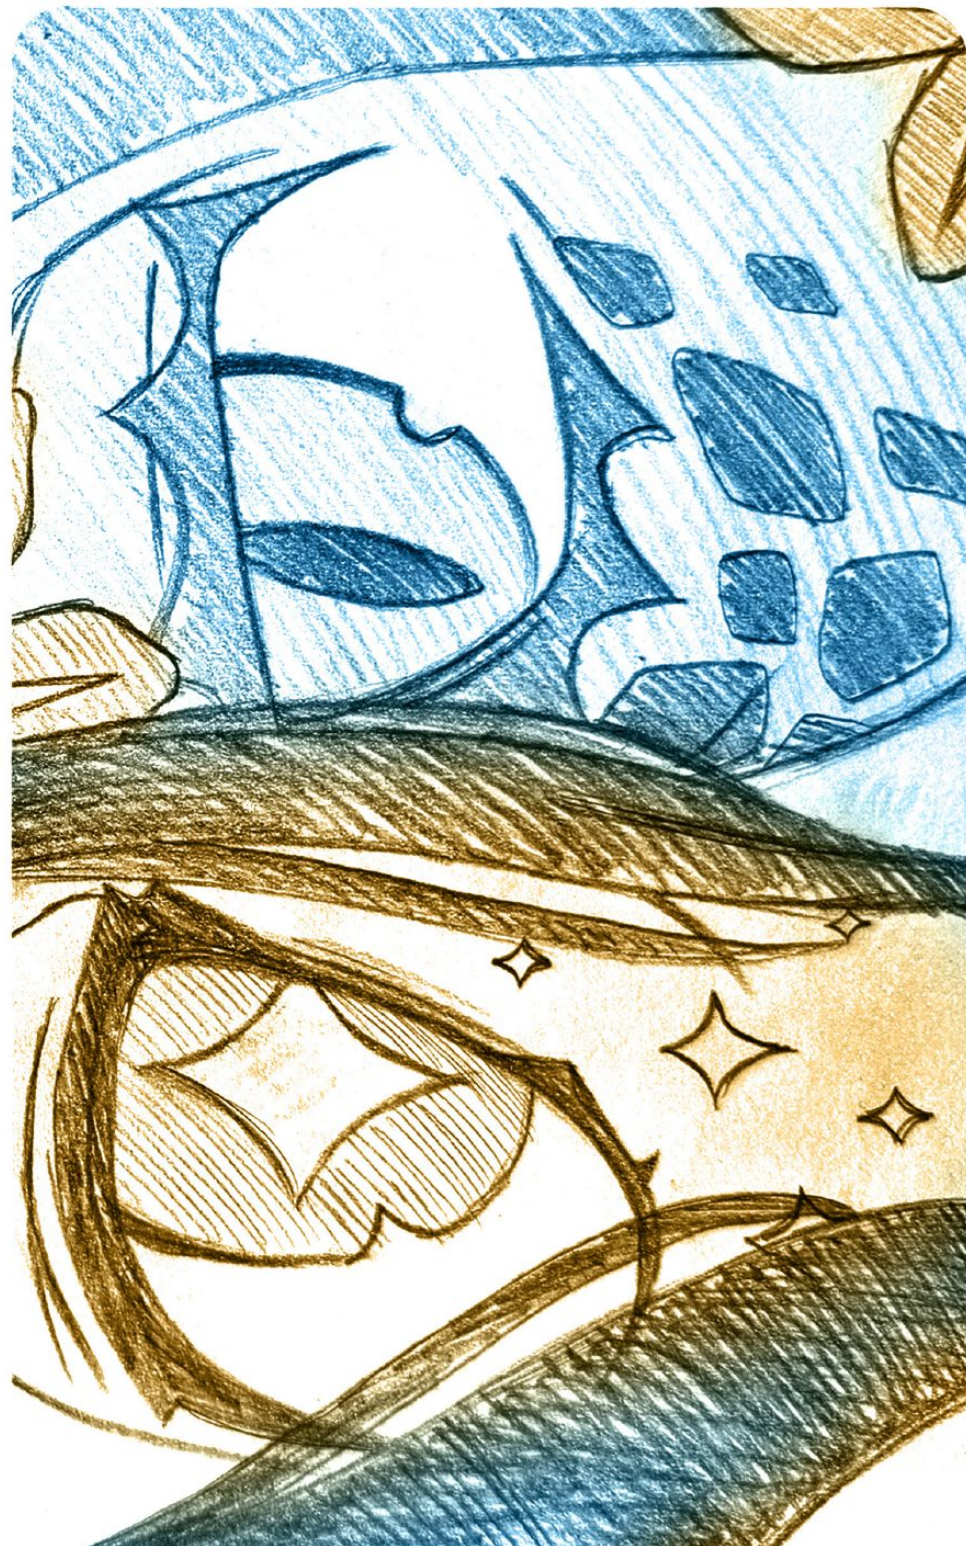

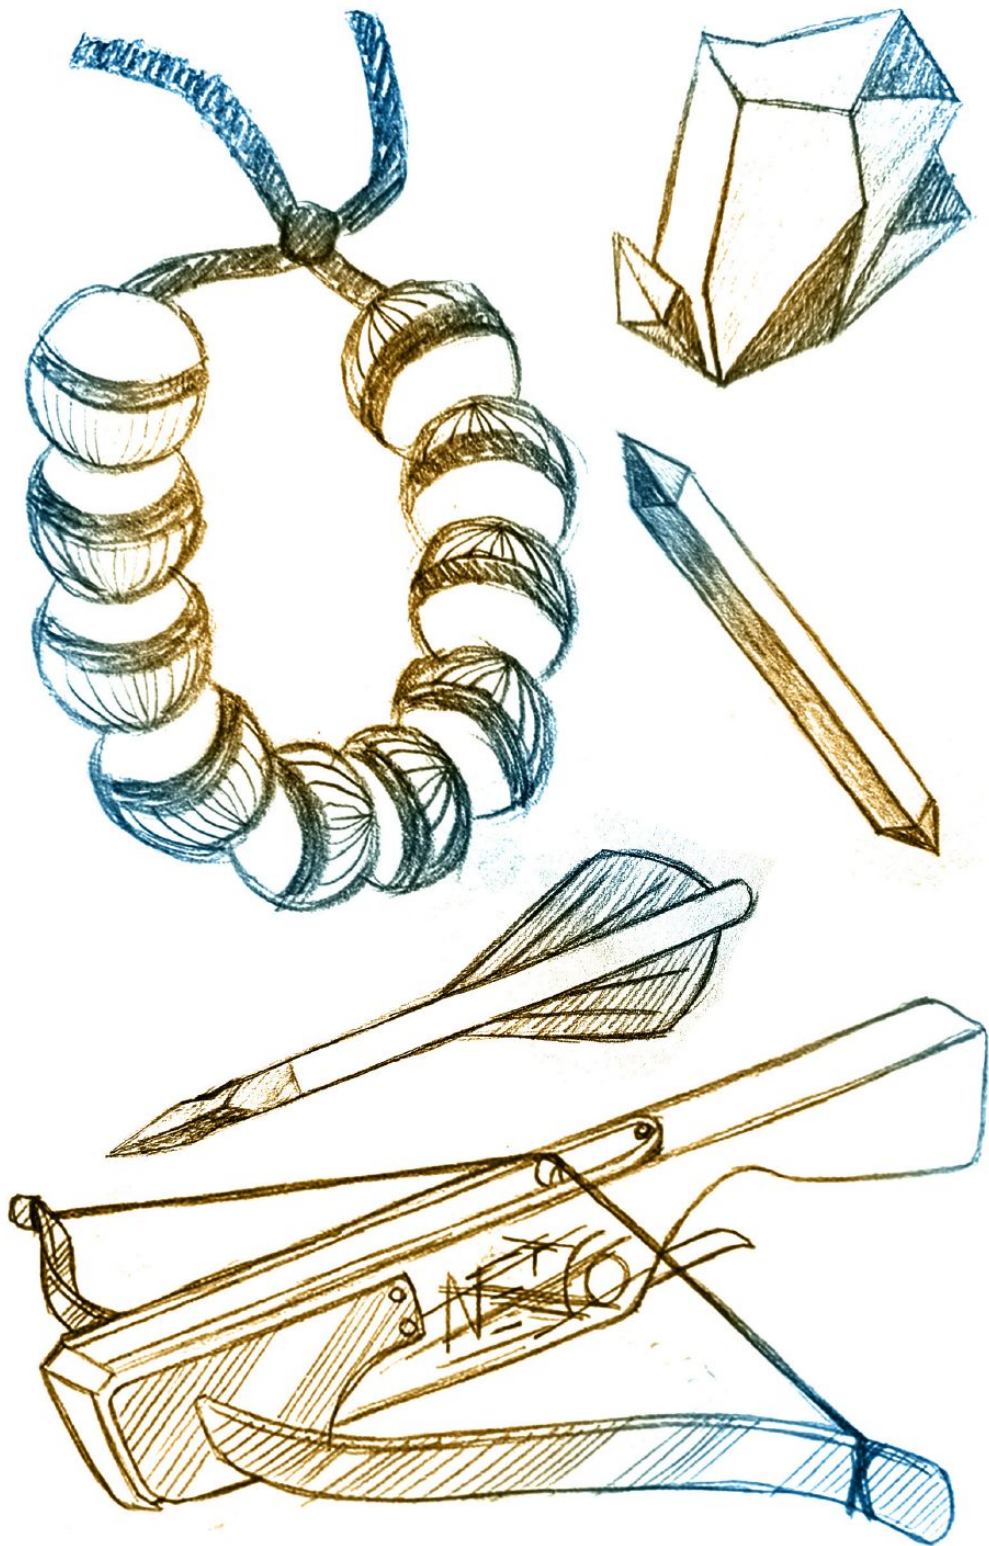

Lumiel has a strange relationship with the god that he worships. He obeys command, and in return the god seems benevolent towards him.

There are times where Lumiel acts entirely of his own volition, yet he frequently finds himself feeling an unknown sense of approval.
